21 KILLED IN ILLINOIS COAL MINE EXPLOSION

IDENTIFY THE VICTIMS BY THEIR NUMBERS

BODIES SEARED BEYOND RECOGNITION LIE IN WEST FRANKFORT MORGUE

ONE OF DEAD MEN HAD CHALKED ROOM NUMBER ON BOOTS AND BELT

West Frankfort, Ill., Jan. 10. — (UP)—Bodies of 21 men seared beyond recognition lay in a morgue here today, victims of southern Illinois' latest mine tragedy.

They were killed by an explosion in the Industrial Coal Company's mine No. 18 at 7:40 A. M. yesterday, although it was not until last night that the number of fatalities was learned.

Identification of the men, because of their condition, was effected in all but two instances by means of safety lamp numbers pinned to their clothing.

One of the dead men had hurriedly chalked the number of his room on his boots and belt, and was identified as Ray Farrell. Another was identified from the location of his body.

The identified dead were:

All of the men, huddled together 500 feet below the surface and a mile from the mine "bottom," were found hours after the explosion by mine rescue squads from Benton, Herrin and Valer, nearby mining towns.

Difficulty in learning the extent of the tragedy was caused by the inaccessibility of the affected portion, and by refusal of the mine owners to discuss the affair with newspapermen.

Relatives of the victims, furthermore, were barred from the mine property and were forced to establish identity of their loved ones at the morgue after the bodies were brought up last night.

A bodily encounter between mine guards and news photographers was averted by the intercession of a mine union official when an airplane arrived from Chicago and landed near the mine pit.

Exact nature of the tragedy is under investigation by A. D. Lewis, director of the state department of mines and minerals, who was at the scene of the explosion throughout the day.

Members of the rescue squads were aided by three physicians, Drs. J. J. Ellis, R. E. Gross and A. W. Spings, whose personal reports following hours of labor beneath the surface were the first authentic information of the explosion's toll.

The explosion, characterized by Dr. Ellis as one of sudden violence, occurred shortly after more than 500 men went to work in the mine yesterday morning. Scores of the men straggled to safety through exit shafts, although several men in far portions of the mine were found by rescuers apparently unaware of the tragedy.

Death of the 21 men was unofficially attributed to the combined effect of the explosion, resultant fire, and gas. Rescue crews equipped with gas masks, emergency oxygen tanks and fire extinguishers, encountered difficulty with smoke.

Several of the miners who went below a few minutes before the explosion later were led to safety when found in a dazed condition. One of the men went temporarily insane, forcing his rescuers to bind him before he could be led to safety.

Two of the miners who escaped, Alex Hamlan and Tony Strucz, worked for hours in an isolated portion of the mine before learning of the explosion. When found by res-

CHICAGO SEEKS TO SOLVE ITS TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Chicago, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Chicago today embarked on a drastic experiment designed to solve its troublesome traffic problem.

Effective at 7 a. m. all parking was prohibited in an area nine blocks by ten embracing the entire downtown business district.

The no-parking law is the most drastic action yet taken by Chicago traffic experts, and the result of the experiment was watched with interest by experts of other cities. Similar plans have been considered elsewhere but seldom tried in major communities.

TO PROLONG LIFE OF PERSONS OVER 50 YEARS OLD

$1,000,000 FUND IN CONTROL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

TO BE USED IN RESEARCH WORK, GIFT OF ALBERT D. LASKER

Chicago, Jan. 10. — (UP)—A one million fund, in control of the University of Chicago, soon will be at the disposal of research workers seeking means of prolonging the life of persons more than 50 years old.

The fund was the gift of Albert D. Lasker, former chairman of the U. S. shipping board, and his wife. With its aid, scientists hoped to bring degenerative diseases under as great a degree of control as already has been established over contagious and infectious maladies.

Bright's disease, cancer and heart affections, all common to persons over 50, will be the special objects of research.

Commenting on the gift, President Max Mason of the university said more than 200,000 persons died in the United States last year from heart disease.

"While the life expectancy of young people has been increased," he said, "persons of middle age live no longer on the average now than they did 100 years ago."

Bright's disease, cancer and other "over 50" maladies killed thousands of persons last year. Research in this branch of medicine has been restricted because of concentration on other diseases.

Lasker called the $1,000,000 fund an "initial endowment," and it was believed the donation might be increased.

Expressing enthusiasm at the gift, Dr. Morris Fishbein, executive secretary of the American Medical Association, said the diseases of middle age were the greatest problem of medicine.

"Heart and kidney diseases, high blood pressure and brain hemorrhages," he said, "are maladies that science has been unable to deal with effectively."

RED WING PLANS AN ICE PALACE

Red Wing, Minn., Jan. 10. — (UP)—The Red Wing Manufacturers' association has voted to place at the disposal of the national ski tournament committee $600 for the erection of an ice palace as a feature of the winter sports carnival next month.

The carnival and ski tournament probably will be one of the biggest events in the history of Red Wing, so extensive is the scale upon which it is being planned.

cuers and asked if they had noticed anything wrong. Hamlan replied: "I noticed the air was a little bad, and told Tony 'I guess the mules have got all the air.'"

Before the bodies were brought to the surface after dark, they were corded together at the bottom of the pit, waiting for a mule car to haul them to the shaft bottom, where later they were hoisted to the surface on blanket covered stretchers.

COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE IS STILL DISCUSSED

TOPIC AT MUNICIPAL OPEN FORUM, ST. PAUL, ON SUNDAY

EXTOLLED AS SCHEME TO RID WORLD OF MISFITS THROUGH BIRTH CONTROL

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10. — (UP)—Companionate marriage still is a subject for discussion—and discussion with considerable heat, too.

That this was true was proved at the meeting of the Municipal Open Forum Sunday at the city hall, when speakers disagreed with Mrs. Margaret Farlow, a Child Welfare worker from the former court of Ben Lindsey of Denver, chief proponent of companionate marriage and former judge of juvenile court.

Mrs. Farlow extolled the idea of companionate marriage as being a scheme whereby the world could be rid of its misfits through birth control and sterilization of unfit persons.

Other speakers, including Rev. W. C. Sainsbury, who declared that he objected to companionate marriage on the grounds that "there is no recognition of love." He did suggest a uniform divorce law for all states, however.

Mrs. Farlow, who has been visiting in Minnesota for three months, objected to the idea that there "is not enough consideration of love" in companionate marriages.

"That's why they're being married," she pointed out. "The marriage vows as proposed would be just as binding but the wife keeps her financial independence, while a childless condition exists, the companionate couple would be allowed to be divorced upon mutual consent, but if they choose to have children, they should be subject to more stringent divorce laws which would protect the children."

On the other hand, Grant D. Spicer declared that marriage is merely a political institution and said that "if we want new styles in marriages, we'll have to get new styles in politics."

Frank Munger said that the idea of companionate marriage was all wrong, and a young woman at the meeting said that it was cold blooded. Joseph Zocher, however, argued in favor of the idea, saying that it was the one easy road to provide for eugenics. George Siebert also upheld the idea, stating that it was a method of living to the best advantage.

I KILLED, 3 INJURED IN TRAIN CRASH AT UNION DEPOT YARDS

St. Paul, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Frank Phelps, Minneapolis, 50, died at a hospital today from injuries received in a train crash near the St. Paul Union depot yards last night. He was employed as a brakeman on the Omaha line.

Three other persons were also injured. Ed. Regan, 60, switchman, is in a serious condition.

The accident occurred when Great Western passenger train No. 17, en route here from Omaha, crashed into the rear end of an Omaha line mail train which was completing a wye.

Two mail cars of the Omaha railway train were badly damaged.

TWO INSTANTLY KILLED AT A RAIL CROSSING

West Fargo, N. D., Jan. 10. — (UP)—Philip Lierness of Hillsboro, N. D., and Gustave Maline, Halstad, Minn., were instantly killed in a railroad crossing accident here late Monday. The truck in which the two men were riding was struck by a Northern Pacific train.

NEW ACCLAIM ACCORDED TO COL. LINDBERGH

RESTS TODAY AT PANAMA CITY AFTER STRENUOUS GOOD WILL FLIGHTS

MAKES ANOTHER CONQUEST IN FRIENDSHIP, CROWDS CHEER HIM

Panama City, Jan. 10. — (UP)—New acclaim was given Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh today as he rested after his strenuous good will flights to the Pan-American countries.

He brought his plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, to a landing on Panama's new landing field yesterday. The field was crowded and no sooner had he stepped from the cabin than he made another conquest in friendship.

He was driven to Panama City, after greetings from Panama's chief executive, and the entire drive was a manifestation of good will for the young flyer. Crowds cheered him. When he waved to those gathered, there was a tremendous roar.

Lindbergh is undetermined when he will leave Panama and where his next stop will be. He plans to rest here for a few days.

He seemed delighted with his visit to Panama.

"It is a pleasure to return to Panama, which I visited when the canal was built," the flying colonel said.

"My flight convinces me that an air mail system between the United States and Panama is entirely feasible. The landing field here is very good for such short notice and with slight improvements will make a first class airport."

PLANE WRECKED, PILOT AND ITS TWO PASSENGERS DEAD

DEAD ARE CAPT. PANLEY, LIEUT. BENEDICT, PILOT HENRIES

PLANE CRASHED IN DENSE FOG ENROUTE NEW YORK TO BUFFALO

Canajoharie, N. Y., Jan. 10. — (UP)—A Fairchild monoplane that has been missing since Sunday, was found wrecked seven miles east of here today, with its pilot and two passengers dead.

The dead are Capt. Edward M. Pauley of Albany, Lieut. George R. Benedict, Curtis Field flier, and Raymond Henries, Buffalo, the pilot.

The plane was thought to have crashed in a dense fog Sunday. It was en route from New York to Buffalo.

Bertillon experts announced that he was Revinsky. The warden of the state penitentiary at Nashville was informed and a reply was received that officers would be sent to take him back to Tennessee.

John Revinsky was convicted and sentenced to 21 years in the penitentiary at Nashville in 1918 for the murder of May Goodwin, "queen of the Memphis underworld."

Since that time he escaped from officers of the law four times. His fourth break was made in November, 1926, with 12 other prisoners who tunneled under the prison wall to liberty.

Returning to Mexico City, Barber went immediately to his wife and their month-old infant. Throughout the entire time of Barber's capture — which dated a week after their baby was born — Mrs. Barber had remained brave. She said she felt throughout that her husband would be able to take care of himself.

YOUTH IS ARRAIGNED AT LOS ANGELES

HUNT GIVES FIRST INDICATION OF DESERTING HIS FORMER PAL

YOUNG HUNT IS SELF-CONFESSED ACCOMPLICE IN DRUG STORE HOLD-UP

Los Angeles, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Welby Hunt, whose testimony may serve to hang his erstwhile bandit pal, William Edward Hickman, pleaded not guilty today to the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, Rose Hill drug-gist.

With his arraignment on the murder indictment in superior court, Hunt, self-confessed accomplice in the drug store hold-up, gave the first indication that he intends to desert his former partner when Hickman goes to trial for the Parker murder.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 10.—Initial steps toward establishment of an "insanity defense" for Edward Hickman will be taken here tomorrow.

Jerome Walsh, Hickman's attorney, said today he would obtain depositions from former high school class mates and friends, who knew Hickman when he was a student there.

These depositions, Walsh said, would be used in an effort to prove that Hickman was a victim of dementia praecox when he killed 12-year-old Marion Parker in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—Possibility that Edward Hickman and his former partner in crime, Welby Hunt, would be arrayed against each other at Hickman's trial for the murder of Marion Parker developed today.

The state indicated it intended to use Hunt to prove its contention that Hickman was sane when he kidnaped, killed and mutilated Marion. The defense also intends to use Hunt.

Three prominent psychiatrists, who are to be called by the state when Hickman comes to trial Jan. 25, will visit the slayer in his cell today and examine his mental condition.

Hunt was to be arraigned today for his part in the slaying of Ivy Thoms, druggist, to which both Hunt and Hickman confessed.

BERTILLON EXPERTS CLAIM SUSPECT IS ESCAPED CONVICT

Minneapolis, Jan. 10. — (UP)—While awaiting officials of Tennessee, Minneapolis police today carefully guarded a man identified as John Revinsky, escaped convict of the southern state.

He was arrested at the drinking place here after attempting to sell a gun last Saturday and gave the name of Martin Hanson.

Bertillon experts announced that he was Revinsky. The warden of the state penitentiary at Nashville was informed and a reply was received that officers would be sent to take him back to Tennessee.

John Revinsky was convicted and sentenced to 21 years in the penitentiary at Nashville in 1918 for the murder of May Goodwin, "queen of the Memphis underworld."

Since that time he escaped from officers of the law four times. His fourth break was made in November, 1926, with 12 other prisoners who tunneled under the prison wall to liberty.

Funeral Rites for Mrs. John F. McGee, Widow of Late Judge

Minneapolis, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Funeral services will be held here Wednesday for Mrs. John F. McGee, widow of the late Federal Judge John F. McGee.

Mrs. McGee died at her home here Monday following an extended illness. She was born in Wapella, Ill., in 1860.

TARIFF REDUCTION AS A FARM RELIEF MEASURE ADVOCATED

Washington, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Tariff reduction as a farm relief measure held the attention of the senate today. It was believed debate on Senator McMaster's resolution for general downward tariff revision would continue several days.

McMaster argued that lowering of the tariff on manufactured products would reduce the price farmers must pay for the commodities necessary to produce crops and so effect a more equitable division of profits as between manufacturers and farmers.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee condemned the McMaster proposal as a "thrust in the dark" which would destroy business confidence and harm the farmer by reducing his domestic market.

YANKEE MINING ENGINEER EFFECTS DRAMATIC ESCAPE

LYMAN F. BARBER KILLED HIS FOUR BANDIT GUARDS

THEN WALKED TWENTY-FIVE MILES THROUGH BRUSH TO MEXICO CITY

By G. F. FINE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, Jan. 10. —Suffering from exposure and an internal injury received in a fall several days ago, Lyman F. Barber, an American mining engineer, was resting today after a dramatic escape—which included killing four guards and a 25-mile dash through brush lands — from Mexican abductors.

Barber staggered into Mexico City late Sunday, but it was not until yesterday and last night that the story of his dramatic escape could be pieced together. His clothes were in shreds and his face was scratched and drawn. He appeared much older than his 35 years.

Despite the hours of exposure, exhaustion and injury, doctors believed Barber would recover.

Barber and his Mexican servant, Pedro, were captured by a band of Mexican bandits and held for ransom. They were held in the same locality where Jacob Rosenthal, the wealthy Long Island realtor, was held before he was killed.

Fearing ransom would not be obtained and that he would meet the same fate as Rosenthal, Barber made plans for escape. He had obtained a bottle of brandy from friends and he and his servant secreted sharpened stones about their persons.

With a gracious motion, Barber tendered the brandy to the four guards and then he and his servant made as if to sleep. The guards drank the brandy.

A few feet back of the captive a blind horse was tramping about in a bunch of cornstalks. With this noise to cover their movements, Barber and his servant slipped to the place where the guards were dozing from the effects of the alcohol, seized the empty bottle, and then with the bottle and sharpened stones beat the guards to death.

Barber and his servant both mounted the blind horse. They forced it at break-neck speed through the brush and brambles of the almost unknown country. Finally the horse dropped exhausted and died.

Barber and his servant then started running across the country. It was difficult running through the brush. They kept on, however, as swiftly as possible.

About noon they entered Cuernavaca—whom meant civilization — and knew they were safe.

Returning to Mexico City, Barber went immediately to his wife and their month-old infant. Throughout the entire time of Barber's capture — which dated a week after their baby was born — Mrs. Barber had remained brave. She said she felt throughout that her husband would be able to take care of himself.

LEON TROTSKY IS INCLUDED IN BANISHMENT

LATTER AT ONE TIME SHARED WITH LENINE SUPREME POWER IN RUSSIA

MANY HAVE BEEN SENT TO REMOTE PORTIONS OF RUSSIA

By FREDERICK KUH (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, Jan. 10. — Banishment from Russia of 52 leaders of the opposition to the Soviet Russian government has been ordered and in some instances already has taken place, the United Press learned today.

Those banished include Leon Trotsky, who once shared with Nikolai Lenin, the supreme power in Russia.

Reports that banishment of 30 leaders was impending have been in circulation but confirmation and additional details were not available until today.

Trotsky, who in the past few months has been gradually shorn of the last vestige of his former position, is still in Moscow but has been ordered to Astrakhan, on the Black sea.

Others have been ordered, and some actually sent, to remote portions of Russia.

The period of exile for all is three years and during that time each will receive a pittance of nine roubles (about $4.50) monthly.

Each of the 52 exiles was ordered sent to a different place, most of them hundreds of miles from civilization.

Fears were expressed that some would not survive, as some of the regions of exile are cholera or plague-stricken.

It was rumored that the banishment followed differences between Stalin and the secret service. The latter insisted upon imprisonment or even more ruthless measures, it was reported. Stalin was said to have contended that banishment was sufficient.

Trotsky was sentenced to do government work at Astrakhan, but he was reported to have refused, saying he could be more useful in Moscow. He is still in Moscow.

Trotsky, according to information here, has said it would be necessary to use force to make him go to Astrakhan.

The immediate cause of banishment was certain incidents in the factories of Moscow and the Bogorodsk districts. Workers refused to renew their collective agreements with the state management, after insisting upon better conditions. Stalin attributed this to the subversive activities of the opposition.

Platakov, former trade representative in Paris, escaped with the mildest punishment, merely being ordered to Australia to arrange wool purchases. Platakov, however, declined.

Reports that Zineviev and Kameneff had been banished were declared untrue. Zineviev is writing a pamphlet said to contain an attack upon Trotsky.

Christian Rakovsky, former Soviet ambassador to France, was ordered to a point near Archangel.

Sebrakoff, active in connection with trade relations between the United States and Russia, was banished to Simpalatinsk, in Turkestan. Sosnovski, an editorial writer on Pravda, was consigned to Siberia.

Others were sent to various remote districts, including Transcaucasia, the Ural Mountains, Archangel and the White Sea districts.

near Zaculapan and captured Barber and his servant.

Thye first demanded 500 pesos ransom, then raised it to 1,000. This was paid but Barber was not released. Instead he was taken into the bandit stronghold. Then the ransom was raised to 5,000 pesos, 10,000 and finally 15,000.

It was when Barber overheard plans for his death—set for Tuesday —unless the 15,000 pesos were paid, that he determined on the escape plan.

HUNT GIVES FIRST INDICATION OF DESERTING HIS FORMER PAL

YOUNG HUNT IS SELF-CONFESSED ACCOMPLICE IN DRUG STORE HOLD-UP

Los Angeles, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Welby Hunt, whose testimony may serve to hang his erstwhile bandit pal, William Edward Hickman, pleaded not guilty today to the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, Rose Hill drug-gist.

With his arraignment on the murder indictment in superior court, Hunt, self-confessed accomplice in the drug store hold-up, gave the first indication that he intends to desert his former partner when Hickman goes to trial for the Parker murder.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 10.—Initial steps toward establishment of an "insanity defense" for Edward Hickman will be taken here tomorrow.

Jerome Walsh, Hickman's attorney, said today he would obtain depositions from former high school class mates and friends, who knew Hickman when he was a student there.

These depositions, Walsh said, would be used in an effort to prove that Hickman was a victim of dementia praecox when he killed 12-year-old Marion Parker in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—Possibility that Edward Hickman and his former partner in crime, Welby Hunt, would be arrayed against each other at Hickman's trial for the murder of Marion Parker developed today.

The state indicated it intended to use Hunt to prove its contention that Hickman was sane when he kidnaped, killed and mutilated Marion. The defense also intends to use Hunt.

Three prominent psychiatrists, who are to be called by the state when Hickman comes to trial Jan. 25, will visit the slayer in his cell today and examine his mental condition.

Hunt was to be arraigned today for his part in the slaying of Ivy Thoms, druggist, to which both Hunt and Hickman confessed.

BERTILLON EXPERTS CLAIM SUSPECT IS ESCAPED CONVICT

Minneapolis, Jan. 10. — (UP)—While awaiting officials of Tennessee, Minneapolis police today carefully guarded a man identified as John Revinsky, escaped convict of the southern state.

He was arrested at a drinking place here after attempting to sell a gun last Saturday and gave the name of Martin Hanson.

Bertillon experts announced that he was Revinsky. The warden of the state penitentiary at Nashville was informed and a reply was received that officers would be sent to take him back to Tennessee.

John Revinsky was convicted and sentenced to 21 years in the penitentiary at Nashville in 1918 for the murder of May Goodwin, "queen of the Memphis underworld."

Since that time he escaped from officers of the law four times. His fourth break was made in November, 1926, with 12 other prisoners who tunneled under the prison wall to liberty.

TARIFF REDUCTION AS A FARM RELIEF MEASURE ADVOCATED

Washington, Jan. 10. — (UP)—Tariff reduction as a farm relief measure held the attention of the senate today. It was believed debate on Senator McMaster's resolution for general downward tariff revision would continue several days.

McMaster argued that lowering of the tariff on manufactured products would reduce the price farmers must pay for the commodities necessary to produce crops and so effect a more equitable division of profits as between manufacturers and farmers.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee condemned the McMaster proposal as a "thrill in the dark" which would destroy business confidence and harm the farmer by reducing his domestic market.

YANKEE MINING ENGINEER EFFECTS DRAMATIC ESCAPE

LYMAN F. BARBER KILLED HIS FOUR BANDIT GUARDS

THEN WALKED TWENTY-FIVE MILES THROUGH BRUSH TO MEXICO CITY

By G. F. FINE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, Jan. 10.—Suffering from exposure and an internal injury received in a fall several days ago, Lyman F. Barber, an American mining engineer, was resting today after a dramatic escape—which included killing four guards and a 25-mile dash through brush lands—from Mexican abductors.

Barber staggered into Mexico City late Sunday, but it was not until yesterday and last night that the story of his dramatic escape could be pieced together. His clothes were in shreds and his face was scratched and drawn. He appeared much older than his 35 years.

Despite the hours of exposure, exhaustion and injury, doctors believed Barber would recover.

Barber and his Mexican servant, Pedro, were captured by a band of Mexican bandits and held for ransom. They were held in the same locality where Jacob Rosenthal, the wealthy Long Island realtor, was held before he was killed.

Fearing ransom would not be obtained and that he would meet the same fate as Rosenthal, Barber made plans for escape. He had obtained a bottle of brandy from friends and he and his servant secreted sharpened stones about their persons.

With a gracious motion, Barber tendered the brandy to the four guards and then he and his servant made as if to sleep. The guards drank the brandy.

A few feet back of the captive a blind horse was tramping about in a bunch of cornstalks. With this noise to cover their movements, Barber and his servant slipped to the place where the guards were dozing from the effects of the alcohol, seized the empty bottle, and then with the bottle and sharpened stones beat the guards to death.

Barber and his servant both mounted the blind horse. They forced it at break-neck speed through the brush and brambles of the almost unknown country. Finally the horse dropped exhausted and died.

Barber and his servant then started running across the country. It was difficult running through the brush. They kept on, however, as swiftly as possible.

About noon they entered Cuernavaca—which meant civilization—and knew they were safe.

Returning to Mexico City, Barber went immediately to his wife and their month-old infant. Throughout the entire time of Barber's capture—which dated a week after their baby was born—Mrs. Barber had remained brave. She said she felt throughout that her husband would be able to take care of himself.

On December 15 the bandit leader, Mendoza, with a large group of men raided the Monte Carlo mine

LEON TROTSKY IS INCLUDED IN BANISHMENT

LATTER AT ONE TIME SHARED WITH LENINE SUPREME POWER IN RUSSIA

MANY HAVE BEEN SENT TO REMOTE PORTIONS OF RUSSIA

By FREDERICK KUH (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, Jan. 10.—Banishment from Russia of 52 leaders of the opposition to the Soviet Russian government has been ordered and in some instances already has taken place, the United Press learned today.

Those banished include Leon Trotsky, who once shared with Nikolai Lenine, the supreme power in Russia.

Reports that banishment of 30 leaders was impending have been in circulation but confirmation and additional details were not available until today.

Trotsky, who in the past few months has been gradually shorn of the last vestige of his former position, is still in Moscow but has been ordered to Astrakhan, on the Black sea.

Others have been ordered, and some actually sent, to remote portions of Russia.

The period of exile for all is three years and during that time each will receive a pittance of nine roubles (about $4.50) monthly.

Each of the 52 exiles was ordered sent to a different place, most of them hundreds of miles from civilization.

Fears were expressed that some would not survive, as some of the regions of exile are cholera or plague-stricken.

It was rumored that the banishment followed differences between Stalin and the secret service. The latter insisted upon imprisonment or even more ruthless measures, it was reported. Stalin was said to have contended that banishment was sufficient.

Trotsky was sentenced to do government work at Astrakhan, but he was reported to have refused, saying he could be more useful in Moscow. He is still in Moscow.

Trotsky, according to information here, has said it would be necessary to use force to make him go to Astrakhan.

The immediate cause of banishment was certain incidents in the factories of Moscow and the Bogoronsk districts. Workers refused to renew their collective agreements with the state management, after insisting upon better conditions. Stalin attributed this to the subversive activities of the opposition.

Platakov, former trade representative in Paris, escaped with the mildest punishment, merely being ordered to Australia to arrange wool purchases. Platakov, however, declined.

Reports that Zineviev and Kameneff had been banished were declared untrue. Zineviev is writing a pamphlet said to contain an attack upon Trotsky.

Christian Rakovsky, former Soviet ambassador to France, was ordered to a point near Archangel.

Sebriakoff, active in connection with trade relations between the United States and Russia, was banished to Simpalatinsk, in Turkestan. Sosnovski, an editorial writer on Pravda, was assigned to Siberia.

Others were sent to various remote districts, including Transcaucasia, the Ural Mountains, Archangel and the White Sea districts.

near Zaculapan and captured Barber and his servant.

Thye first demanded 500 pesos ransom, then raised it to 1,000. This was paid but Barber was not released. Instead he was taken into the bandit stronghold. Then the ransom was raised to 5,000 pesos, 10,000 and finally 15,000.

It was when Barber overheard plans for his death—set for Tuesday—unless the 15,000 pesos were paid, that he determined on the escape plan.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

January 9, 1903

James J. Nolan, mail carrier on the east side, was taken ill Tuesday night and is still confined to the house.

Saturday evening, January 10, Pap Thomas Post, G. A. R., of this city, will install its new officers. The W. R. C. will also install their officers that evening, and the installation will be a joint one. It will be an open meeting. Adjutant G. W. Healey, by order of the commander, has sent out invitations, extending a cordial invitation to ex-union soldiers.

Miss Winnifred Small left this afternoon for Youngstown, Ohio, where she will visit for some time with her sister, Mrs. Clarke.

H. H. Harrison of Stillwater, who has been in the city for a few days visiting with his old friend from boyhood days, Col. A. J. Halsted, returned home this afternoon.

Mrs. F. Royce, of Lake Preston, returned home today after a brief business visit in the city. Her husband, who is a doctor, expects to move here in a short time and locate here permanently.

St. Paul's Episcopal church is undergoing some extensive repairs. The interior of the church is to be replastered and thoroughly renovated. In consequence the services next Sunday will be held in the Guild room.

C. will also install their officers that evening, and the installation will be a joint one. It will be an open meeting. Adjutant G. W. Healey, by order of the commander, has sent out invitations, extending a cordial invitation to ex-union soldiers.

Miss Winnifred Small left this afternoon for Youngstown, Ohio, where she will visit for some time with her sister, Mrs. Clarke.

H. H. Harrison of Stillwater, who has been in the city for a few days visiting with his old friend from boyhood days, Col. A. J. Halsted, returned home this afternoon.

Mrs. F. Royce, of Lake Preston, returned home today after a brief business visit in the city. Her husband, who is a doctor, expects to move here in a short time and locate here permanently.

St. Paul's Episcopal church is undergoing some extensive repairs. The interior of the church is to be replastered and thoroughly renovated. In consequence the services next Sunday will be held in the Guild room.

January 10, 1903

Lodge No. 360, M. B. A. will install its officers for the ensuing year, on Tuesday evening, January 13. The officers are:

President—James Thomas.
Vice President—Dennis Mahoney.
Secretary—Guy Weaver.
Treasurer—Bertha Theviot.
Conductor—C. M. Richardson.
Chaplain—Luella Robinson.
Watchman—Leon Pilon.
Sentry—Thomas Evans.

After the installation the ladies will serve lunch and a good time is anticipated. The lodge is in fine condition, has chosen a good set of officers and ought to be eminently successful this year.

Miss Marie Lawrence left this afternoon for Hackensack where she is teaching school. She spent the holiday vacation in this city with relatives.

Mrs. H. Theviot left this afternoon for Staples where she will install the new officers of the W. R. C. of that place this evening. Mrs. Theviot is department aid for this district.

Andrew Carnegie, the great free library donor, has at last reached Brainerd and the news that he is going to give the city $12,000 for a public library is heralded with joy by all.

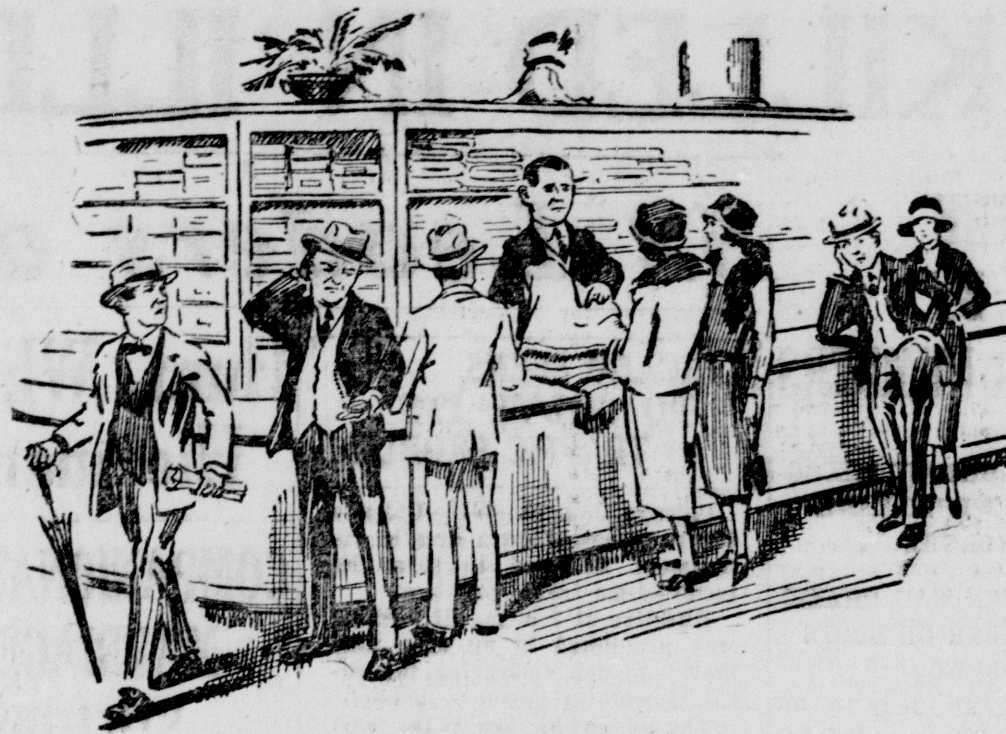

Better flavor in your cakes and biscuits—this way!

SYNOPSIS

Mickey Grogan, scamp of the streets, and Jeffrey Shore, a young architect forced to leave his profession because of failing eyesight, are thrown together by adversity and Mickey introduces Jeffrey to Winifred Davidson, a pretty stenographer who had once aided him. Winifred provides them with a bed for the night in the attic above her apartment and decides to help Jeffrey whose courage and pride in the face of failure had won her admiration. Her employer, Alexander Cabel, food products magnate, is inspecting plans for a group of new factories in his office the following afternoon and expresses himself as displeased with the work. Cabel has left and Winifred is planning how she can give Jeffrey an opportunity to show Cabel his talent when the door opens and Al Nevins, pugilist and her unwelcome admirer, walks in.

This evening, Al had on a loud checked suit, bright tan shoes and a necktie with screaming red and green stripes. Not all the robes of Solomon were as brilliant to the eye as Al's present get-up. And certainly Solomon, even at the height of his glory, had never been so pleased with himself as Mr. Al Nevins.

"How's the head this evening?" he asked familiarly. "How about going to a dance with me over at Moose Hall? They got a new jazz band there they say has got it all over Paul Whiteman."

It seemed to Winifred that Al was always coming upon her when ed the matter philosophically, if a bit crudely. "Maybe this dame is the kind who needs a lot of coaxin'. Maybe I been crowdin' her too fast. There is dames like that. Ain't it funny? Some 'll fall all over ya just because ya wink at 'em, an' others ya gotta keep nursin' along until they're ripe. An' Winnie ain't quite ripe yet."

"This view fell in perfectly with his natural egotism, and he felt vastly relieved. 'Well, I'm in no hurry,' said Al, helping Winifred into her coat. He made her hands prisoners in his own grimy paws and refused to let her go free. 'You're a cute kid all right,' he whispered down her neck. 'Gloria Pickford Swanson ain't got nothin' on you for class. You'd make Hollywood look like an old maid's convention.'

"Winnie bit her lip angrily. 'Let go my hands,' she said sharply, and the tone of her voice made him obey. She seized the opportunity for all that it was worth and snatched up her purse and gloves. But, as usual, he was blind to these evidences of her displeasure, and accompanied her to the door.

"D'ya know, Winnie you're just the kind of girl I could get awful stuck on. If you say the word I'll rent a classy little place out of town, away from the smoke an' traffic an' all."

"I wouldn't if I were you, though it's sweet of you to think of my future that way." She could not help the tone of sarcasm that crept into her voice; but she smiled up at him trying to end an her mind was full of other, pressing thoughts. She was tired of telling him that she could not go out with him. If the man had the least sensitiveness, he would have realized, long before this, that she disliked him. It was apparent, however, that Al could never bring himself to believe that he wasn't a king-pin with the ladies. As a matter of fact, there was some foundation for his belief that women could not resist him. Very few had until Winifred had swum into his ken. She was a woman like the others, subject to the same reactions and sensations; how then could she remain cool to his manly beauty?

Winifred found herself giving the same excuse that she had in the past. By this time she was desperately tired of repeating the old formula. How could Al be so thick-skinned as not to see that he was unwelcome in her sight? "I'm very tired, Al. I think I'll go straight home. Thanks, just the same." Winifred wondered why she was thanking him. All of her replies ended that way. "Thanks, just the same."

For the first time, Al didn't look so cock-sure. Winifred had an irritating habit of putting him off, and a line of grim suspicion formed under his wide, sensual mouth. "What's the big idea?" he asked. "Don't you want to go with me? Maybe you think you're too good! Well, let me tell you something, girlie. Any dame in this factry would give her Sunday shoes just to be seen with me! An' I don't mean maybe!"

She had no desire to precipitate a quarrel with this man. She always made the excuse to him that she had a headache; and she could not help thinking that there was more truth in her excuses than she owned to herself. For, by the time she finished making excuses, she really did have a headache as well as an attack of nervousness. The last may have been due to the fact that she really never felt safe with Al. He was the sort that might lose his temper on the least provocation. But now her only wish was to get as far away from him as possible. She wanted to see Jeffrey and tell him about the architectural plans.

"An' so I'm not good enough for ya?" Al asked in a surly fashion evidently eager to stir up a quarrel. His mouth hung open with chagrin, and Winifred could see two gold teeth of which the pugilist was doubtless exceedingly proud.

"Don't be foolish," she told him. "I've been working very hard, that's all." Winifred feared that her too decided stand on the matter was unwise, so she threw him a sop. "I'll go with you some other time, Al."

He caught at her words in the same way that a dog will spring at a bone. This at least was a partial victory for him. He regarded the matter philosophically, at a bit crudely. "Maybe this dame is the kind who needs a lot of coaxing. Maybe I been crowdin' her too fast. There is dames like that. Ain't it funny? Some 'll fall all over ya just because ya wink at 'em, an' others ya gotta keep nursin' along until they're ripe. An' Winnie ain't quite ripe yet."

This view fell in perfectly with his natural egotism, and he felt vastly relieved. "Well, I'm in no hurry," said Al, helping Winifred into her coat. He made her hands prisoners in his own grimy paws and refused to let her go free. "You're a cute kid all right," he whispered down her neck. "Gloria Pickford Swanson ain't got nothin' on you for class. You'd make Hollywood look like an old maid's convention."

Winifred bit her lip angrily. "Let go my hands," she said sharply, and the tone of her voice made him obey. She seized the opportunity for all that it was worth and snatched up her purse and gloves. But, as usual, he was blind to these evidences of her displeasure, and accompanied her to the door.

"D'ya know, Winnie you're just the kind of girl I could get awful stuck on. If you say the word I'll rent a classy little place out o' town, away from the smoke an' traffic an' all—"

"I wouldn't if I were you, though it's sweet of you to think of my future that way," she could not help the tone of sarcasm that crept into her voice; but she smiled up at him trying to end an unpleasant conversation as pleasantly as possible. "Yeh? Well, I'm coming up to your place tonight." It was a statement, not a request. "Ain't I the swell fella? What other guy would give up a dance to be near a girl like you, keepin' her company, an' all?"

"Oh, I wouldn't if I were you!" said Winifred on the verge of tears. "All that nice jazz music going to waste—"

"Never mind, girlie! They kin have their jazz bands. I ain't bothered when I kin be near you. Be sure ya got on your best bib an' tucker now. 'Cause I'm comin' up to tell ya somethin' that's been on my mind fer a long time!"

The man was hopeless and she would have to tell him off right then and there, chancing the consequences. "Listen, Al," she said coolly. "I might as well tell you now, so that there won't be any after-regrets. There's no use pestering me from now on. I simply don't care to go out with you, and if you'd leave me alone, I'd be ever so grateful."

He looked at her uncomprehendingly, then smiled his large, toothy smile of gross ownership. "G'wan, G'wan. As if I'd believe anything like that. Now I tell ya what cha do. Go home an' take forty winks an' git all rested up. An' by the time I come around you'll be your nice sweet self again."

"I don't want to see you again," she repeated. "And if you had the least sense you'd understand with out my repeating it. I don't want to see you again!"

But he took no notice of her words and sauntered away down the hall, whistling with a large air of self-satisfaction.

Winifred glared after him. O, to be a man, stronger than this self-satisfied, smug brute, so that she might annihilate him with blows! O, to be a truck-driver or a boiler-maker or Jack Dempsey or Gene Tunney! O, to be an amazon that she might go up to him and crush him with one perfectly aimed smack! Or, perhaps a foot-ball player with top strong toes so that the force of her kick would render him incapable of sitting down! But since Winifred was a young woman who watched her starches and proteins, she could only glare and stamp her foot, fairly flinging herself out of the room at his presumption, and slamming the door behind her.

That day, Mickey and Jeff had visited the Dump in the hope that they might find enough cast off things of value to make some money. Now they were back in the attic above Winifred's room, having crept up the stairs without being observed by the landlady. They were tired and seated themselves on the mattress that Jeff used for his bed.

STILL GOING GOOD

BULLET JOE BUSH, our esteemed Brainerd boy who put the town on the sport map years ago when he pitched his first world series game, is still going good. Last season he was with the Pirates and Giants and then pitched four good games for Toledo and enabled them to win the pennant.

Now he has been signed up with Connie Mack and is back with the Athletics. A New York friend of the Brainerd Dispatch sends one of Ripley's "Believe It or Not" sketches and prominence is accorded Bush with this script attached:

"Bullet Joe Bush has pitched for the Athletics, Red Sox, Yankees, Senators, Browns, Pirates and the Giants and is now back with the Athletics."

Bush has many good years of baseball left in his frame. Should the pitching wing refuse to function, he can be put in the field. Here at Brainerd he first played in the field before his pitching arm was discovered. He has always had a good batting eye, and old-timers remember when he played with Missoula and won a double-header, the first game by pitching, the second game by coming in as a relief hurler in the seventh inning and later hitting with the bases full.

AN EFFICIENT PARTY SERVANT

STATE SENATOR WM. F. BROOKS, of Minneapolis, is a candidate to succeed himself as national republican committeeman from Minnesota, and in an announcement issued some time ago pledges himself if elected to do everything in his power to elect the entire republican ticket in 1928.

Senator Brooks was elected to that position in June, 1924, and the success of the party in that year was due in no small measure to his active and personal interest.

At the close of the 1924 campaign Senator Brooks established republican headquarters in the Builders Exchange, Minneapolis, where he has maintained the same continuously since, and has at all times taken an active interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the republican party from both a state and national viewpoint. Up to the present time there has developed no opposition to his candidacy, and there probably will be none because of the splendid manner in which he has conducted the party affairs of the state during the past four years.

CENTRAL MINNESOTA TOBACCO CROP

THE 1927 tobacco crop of Central Minnesota, noticeably prominent in the St. Cloud district, is valued at $150,000 and represents an increase of 50 per cent in production within a year. Considerable fertilizer is needed to make the crop a success and Central Minnesota has this requirement as well as suitable soil and climate.

Charles H. Lien, state tobacco expert, has said that a "great dairy country can always be a great tobacco country because there is always plenty of fertilizer, a thing which is causing acute distress to growers in the south." New growers entering the tobacco field are farmers of Belgrade, Kingston and Foley. Kimball recently shipped a carload of tobacco.

Experiments should be carried on in Crow Wing county to see if tobacco can be successfully raised here.

COOKS who spoil food in France are liable to damages, a French court has ruled, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Paris. Not only must they pay for the ruined materials, but also for the damaged feelings and public humiliation of the host.

THE snow plows continue to keep busy. The highway department with headquarters at Brainerd sends out its plows to widen cuts and bring the trunk highways to standard widths. The work of the department is appreciated by every motorist and sleigh owner.

THE old nursery song of London bridge is falling down and advising repairs in the second verse, came near being true when the tides swelled the Thames and burst embankments in London.

ADJUTANT GENERAL E. A. WALSH has stated that Minnesota's national guard is over-manned. An order has followed ordering over-manned organizations to reduce.

LAFAYETTE FRENCH
MAY RESIGN SOON

St. Paul, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Although he would not announce a definite date, Lafayette French, U. S. district attorney for the Minnesota district, has made it known he will resign.

Following reports of his intention, Attorney French said Monday night that he will send in his resignation in the near future.

It is reported that L. L. Drill, prominent attorney of St. Paul and close friend of U. S. Senator Thomas D. Schall, will succeed the present district attorney.

FINAL REPORT ON

Reed said the committee was un-

Trappist Retreat Hears Clicking of Cameras for First Time

A Trappist monastery heard a clicking camera for the first time when Rex Ingram directed "The Garden of Allah" for Metro-Goldwyn at Staoueli. He was allowed to do so by Lucien Borgeaud, owner of the ancient Trappist retreat which was vacated by their monks in 1904. Mr. Hichens published this novel in the year the Trappists left Algiers after an occupancy of sixty years.

Alice Terry and Ivan Petrovich play the leading roles in this new Ingram production, which opens at the Lyceum theatre tonight.

BEMIDJI GAME

REPETITION OF
BITTER BATTLEBRAINERD LOST A SECOND TILT
20-19 ON THE BEMIDJI
FLOOR

That Brainerd lost a game which should have been their own is all that can be said for the outcome of the Bemidji clash, which ended 20 to 19.

Again a typical game was played in which neither team was in the lead by more than three points. The entire crowd was held in suspense the last quarter as the score was tied up to the last two minutes when Bethel sunk a basket. Brainerd had a chance to tie with two free throws but failed to make both.

Frank Wise played the usual fast and spectacular game, being all over the floor. He was greatly admired by the entire Bemidji audience. Welliver followed close behind, displaying great ability as a guard and before the year is over probably will be one of the best in the history of Brainerd. Guin played a very good game, having four field goals to his credit. Swanson displayed ability in team work and was left unable to shoot.

Bethel of Bemidji was held to one field goal while Simons and Kelly added the rest of the points. These men are dead shots and are the dread of any opponent.

The line-up follows:
Brainerd — field goals: Wise, 4; Swanson, 0; Hautala, 0; Guin, 4; Fuller, 0; Welliver, 0. Free throws: Wise, 0 out of 1; Hautala, 1 out of 2; Guin, 0 out of 1; Fuller, 1 out of 3; Welliver, 1 out of 1.

Bemidji — Kelly, 3; Vipond, 0; Simons, 2; Bethel, 1; Ditty, 0; Sexton, 1. Free throws: Kelly, 2 out of 3; Simons, 1 out of 2; Bethel, 1 out of 3.

Bemidji-ites Entertain
Team After the Game

The basketball fellows had a very interesting trip during the Christmas vacation. They traveled up to Bemidji to play the Bemidji floor-men and had a very fine time though they did lose the game by one point.

They reached Bemidji at 5, immediately registering at the Markham hotel. There wasn't much doing before the game so they just wandered around town, going through their high school during this time.

A large crowd was on hand to witness the game, which started at 8. It is described elsewhere in the paper so will not be given here.

Immediately after the game all of the fellows were invited to a party given by the Bemidji team, and Mr. McCrady a former star with the assistance of some of the high school girls. Nagurski, all-American tackle was one of the guests. They do tell that they had a very fine time, plenty of amusements being provided; and so interested were they that they forgot all about the time and crept into bed much later than Mr. Kasch had instructed, thereby incurring his righteous and implacable wrath.

The next morning a large breakfast, described as the largest meal of the trip, was devoured, with an immediate departure for Brainerd following.

Each one of our men is very enthusiastic over the treatment they received while there, and will remember it as one of the most enjoyable trips they have had this season.

BURGHER COLUMN

By
HAM and LIM

Santa Claus has been resting ever since his long trip Christmas Eve, but he managed to send us these letters that came to him.

Dear Santa Claus:
Please leave me nine good baseball players and a 1928 rule book.
Yours, Fritz Rosel.

Dear Sandy Claus:
I would like very much to have you leave me two feet of height to add to my stature and a good crop of whiskers.
Yours truly, Roger Callahan.

Dear Santa:
Won't you please put a large book of good jokes in my stocking with which to make the Brainerdian funnier.
Yours truly, Richard Ebert.

Miss Sundberg: Where does Brainerd get its city water?
Alice N.: Well—
Miss Sundberg: Correct.

Teacher: This sentence, My father had money—is past tense. What tense would you be speaking in if you said, "My father has money?"
Student: Pretense.

Teacher: Do you think you're teaching this class?
Student: No, ma'am.
Teacher: Well, then don't act like an idiot.

Freshman: Huh?
Sophomore: What?
Junior: I beg your pardon.
Senior: I do not comprehend the nature of your interrogation.

Mr. Kasch: Patterson must be Scotch. All he does in the gym is practice free shots.

There is a Senior so dumb that he thinks the cavalier poets wrote their poems on horseback.

Teacher: Will you please run up the shade?
David Weber: I'm sorry, but I'm not very good at climbing.

Miss Sundberg: How can you tell when spring is coming, although it is still cold?
Thomas H.: It begins to get earlier later.

Zane Smith: My great grandfather fought with Washington.
Roger Klevens: What for?

A Scotchman before having a profile taken had one side of his suit pressed.

Have you ever heard of "Trapper Bill"? Well "Trapper Bill" is a very interesting old fellow and he likes to tell stories. One of his best is about what happened to some famous singers up north of '56.

It seems that trapping had been good and the bait was almost gone. Bill hunted around the cabin and finally came across some ludefsk and baited the traps. The next morning, he tells us, he set out as usual and you may imagine his surprise to find that he had caught two wolves, a muskrat and the St. Olaf Quintet.

BRAINERD RUNS
TECH HIGH, 29-8THE TEAM COMPLETELY OUT-
CLASSED THE ST. CLOUD
MEN

Brainerd gave St. Cloud Tech its worst trimming since 1927 by defeating them 29 to 8. Brainerd out-fought and out-played St. Cloud the entire game.

At the beginning of the game, Brainerd had a terrible time getting range of the basket, as they were not used to playing on that type of floor. If Brainerd had made 25 per cent of the tries at the net that hit the ring and rolled off, the score would have reached close to 50. However, St. Cloud was off form on its passing defense and teamwork.

From all appearances, it looked like a nip and tuck game from the start to the first half. Tech took a 4 to 6 lead at the outset but Franky came back and sunk two baskets in rapid succession as the first quarter ended. Brainerd was leading at the half by 9 to 7.

Something terrible happened in the second half, for St. Cloud made only one free throw while Brainerd piled up 20 points.

Franky Wise was a continual threat to the Tech guards being very near impossible to cover. Welliver was the outstanding man as floor guard and proved his great ability on a large floor. Capt. Guin did some very effective work and teamed with Wise. LaCourse, sub, looked very good in the final quarter.

The teamwork of Brainerd from all outside reports was above that of the average of the school team and the passing was very accurate.

Erickson, Mark Doane and Malcolm Doane were the best for the Tech in scoring and teamwork, but the defense of the locals smothered them. The major weakness of the Tech seemed to be in the lack of ability to find an open spot in the floor. However, when 75 per cent of the shots for Brainerd were made in short range, it shows that something was wrong with the Tech defense.

The line-up:
Brainerd — field goals: Wise, 3; Guin, 3; Welliver, 4; Fuller, 1; Hautala, 0; LaCourse, 3; Swanson, 0. Free throws: Guin, 1 out of 2; Fuller, 0 out of 1.

Tech — field goals: Erickson, 1; Graves, 1; Daubanton, 0; Hallstrom, 0; Torry, 0. Free throws: Graves, 1 out of 2; Daubanton, 2 out of 3; Hallstrom, 1 out of 2; Torry, 0 out of 1.

Who, What and Where

All students and teachers are back to begin working again after having spent a delightful two weeks, skating, sliding, skating and sleeping.

We notice many new ties, handkerchiefs, flowers, and dresses around school. These indicate that some people are starting the school year right by wearing what they got for Christmas.

Monday morning the assembly clock was about ten minutes late. That surely is not starting the new year right for it sets a poor example for the students.

This week there are no girls' class basketball practices. Only the girls in the squad are able to practice. Next week the regular class practices will be resumed.

The English IV classes have received another contract which must be finished before this six weeks is up. This is the second English contract this six weeks.

Harold Fox, 1924, after spending two years at Dunwoody, is an instructor in the Electrical Division at that school.

LITERARY

Christmas vacation has come and gone,
And school days have returned.
In two or three weeks we pupils will know
How many credits we've earned.

We've started now the year '28.
The last chance, in Brainerd High.
The Seniors have of showing
Whether they'll do or die.

Let us show them, Seniors,
That we're brighter than they think;
That we'll hold our heads above water
As we have to swim or sink.

The song for this week is "Roll 'Em, Girls, Roll 'Em," meaning, of course, snow balls. Another one could be, "Behind the Clouds the Sun is Ever Shining." A poem, a little behind the times, is "Christmas in the Olden Times," by Scott.

Get Those Blue and White
Skull Caps Now!—WEAJ

Ark-ark-br-r—this is station WEAJ speaking. We'll open our program this evening with several announcements by the cheer-leader. Hello! folks, say you know I'm surely proud of our basketball team this season. They really have done wonderfully well and I think they are going to do even better.

The Rooter club will hold a meeting in the Gym at three-thirty. Everybody be there please.
Anyone in the school may buy a skull cap for thirty-five cents. I have thirty-four left. I must get rid of them this week.

We expect a big crowd at the battle in the Gym with C-I. Friday night. Will the members of the Rooter club be there with their caps and all ready to yell?

Several new yells will be in my possession early next week and we shall practice them.

Watch for announcements of the Rooter club on the bulletin board.

Alumni Wins From
B. H. S. First Team 37-20

The Alumni team proved their superiority in clever shooting and experience on the court by defeating the local team to the tune of 37 to 20.

Both teams fought on even terms until the third quarter when the Alumni began to creep ahead and continued to do so until the end. However, early in the 4th quarter Kasch put in a new team with a different style of playing but the Alumni soon coped with it and continued to march on to victory.

Whitlock was the high scorer for the Alumni, having five field goals and four free throws to his credit. Marshall followed close with four field goals. Engbretson, although a star of the Augsburg quint, was watched so closely that he made only three field goals and these were from near the center of the floor. DeRoche made two field goals also.

The scoring was distributed evenly between LaCourse, Guin and Hautala for Brainerd. It proved rather hard for the boys to penetrate the defense set up by the Alumni but they did it once in a while.

The following men played for the Alumni: Engbretson, Whitlock, Marshall, Lowe and DeRoche.
Brainerd: Swanson, Wise, Guin, Welliver and Fuller.
Subs: LaCourse, A. Hautala, Purdy, Barnes, Gabiou.
Peterson refereed.

Male E.: A penny for your thoughts.
Carl Z.: Just my luck I wasn't thinking.

Have you heard Dorothy Thabes is going to teach dancing? She hadn't ought to. It's a shaky business.

Muff D.: Have you heard the latest one about the Scotchman and his oatmeal?

Joe G.: I don't like cereal stories.

Does it cost much to have your ancestors looked up?

I'll say it does. First I paid a fellow to trace my lineage and now I'm paying him hush money.

Director: Hold it.
Actor: I'm sorry but the pie is cast.

CLASS PLAY AND
CAST IS SELECTEDTHE PLAY IS THE 'BOOMERANG,' REHEARSALS TO START IN
A FEW DAYS

Yes, the class play has been chosen. The Friday before Christmas vacation, Miss Tornstrom announced in the assembly that the following people were selected for the class play; but you must keep watching for the "selected cast," because the list of lucky ones cannot be submitted yet.

The first act was read Friday night, and apparently, "the cast" will do. Eleven hearts were made happy by this selection and probably a few more will be by the skillful arrangements of extra parts and lines. Watch for future notices, and don't forget "The Boomerang." Just a little bit more — two fair-haired people lead in the plot.

S. P. C. TRAINS FOR
DECLAMATION CONTEST

The Semper Paratus club has received a copy of the best declamations for our contest which will be held sometime in February. All who wish to compete in this contest are asked to come down to Miss Taylor's room at 3:30 in the afternoon. We believe that the pieces are numerous enough and the field large enough to hold a number of competitors and we hope that as many as possible will sign for one of the readings on the list below:

A—Humorous, for both Boys and Girls

1. At the Matinee.
2. Mrs. McGlattery on Roller Skates.
3. Judy O'Shea Sees Hamlet.
4. Naughty Zell.
5. An Afternoon at the Chautauqua.
6. The P. A. I. L. W. R.
7. Willie's First Contest.
8. Over The Bannisters.
9. The Abandoned Elopement.
10. Blackstone (Pieces that will take prizes).

B—Dramatic, for Girls

1. Inja.
2. The Music Master.
3. Within the Law.
4. Cherry Blossoms.
5. Blackstone (Pieces that will take prizes).

C—Orations, for Boys

1. Modern American Prose Selections.
2. Best American Orations of Today.
3. Selections from the World's Great Orations.
4. Blackstone (Pieces that will take prizes).
5. America's Perfect Knight—Charles Lindbergh.

Recipe for Doughnuts

The doughnut is a very useful as well as an ornamental article. The following is a tried and true recipe which is very useful for amateurs, cooks, etc.

First, select as many round holes as there are doughnuts to be made. As the hole is the most important part, care should be taken in the choice. After satisfactory holes have been selected, the dough is neatly fitted around them. This gives them a circular effect, which, besides being dramatic is very convenient as one does not have to decide which side to bite first.

After the holes have been surrounded they are dropped into hot lard and scorched. If the brown complexion is not desired one may cover it with powder.
Next, the holes must be removed. This process is very difficult and trying as one must be careful not to damage them. They may, when successfully removed, be used again if kept in a cool place.

However, damaged holes should be destroyed by fire immediately after being removed from the doughnuts. What cook would risk her reputation by using damaged holes?

When making this delicious fruit the honeyed words of a long forgotten poet should be memorized and thoroughly mastered as it is not important.

Doughnuts may be served with either catsup or rice but they must be eaten while young.—Exchange.

STILL GOING GOOD

BULLET JOE BUSH, our esteemed Brainerd boy who put the town on the sport map years ago when he pitched his first world series game, is still going good. Last season he was with the Pirates and Giants and then pitched four good games for Toledo and enabled them to win the pennant.

Now he has been signed up with Connie Mack and is back with the Athletics. A New York friend of the Brainerd Dispatch sends one of Ripley's "Believe It or Not" sketches and prominence is accorded Bush with this script attached:

"Bullet Joe Bush has pitched for the Athletics, Red Sox, Yankees, Senators, Browns, Pirates and the Giants and is now back with the Athletics."

Dear Sandy Claws:
I would like very much to have you leave me two feet of height to add to my stature and a good crop of whiskers.
Yours truly, Roger Callahan.

Dear Santa:
Won't you please put a large book of good jokes in my stocking with which to make the Brainonian funnier.
Yours truly, Richard Ebert.

Miss Sundberg: Where does Brainerd get its city water?
Alice N.: Well—
Miss Sundberg: Correct.

Teacher: This sentence, My father had money—is past tense. What tense would you be speaking in if you said, "My father has money?"
Student: Pretense.

Teacher: Do you think you're teaching this class?
Student: No, ma'am.
Teacher: Well, then don't act like an idiot.

Freshman: Huh?
Sophomore: What?
Junior: I beg your pardon.
Senior: I do not comprehend the nature of your interrogation.

Mr. Kasch: Patterson must be Scotch. All he does in the gym is practice free shots.

There is a Senior so dumb that he thinks the cavalier poets wrote their poems on horseback.

Teacher: Will you please run up the shade?
David Weber: I'm sorry, but I'm not very good at climbing.

Miss Sundberg: How can you tell when spring is coming, although it is still cold?
Thomas H.: It begins to get earlier later.

Zane Smith: My great grandfather fought with Washington.
Roger Klevens: What for?

A Scotchman before having a profile taken had one side of his suit pressed.

Have you ever heard of "Trapper Bill"? Well "Trapper Bill" is a very interesting old fellow and he likes to tell stories. One of his best is about what happened to some famous singers up north of '56.

It seems that trapping had been good and the bait was almost gone. Bill hunted around the cabin and finally came across some ludefish on an old shelf. He took the ludefish and baited the traps. The next morning, he tells us, he set out as usual and you may imagine his surprise to find that he had caught two wolves, a muskrat and the St. Olaf Quintet.

BRAINERD RUNS
TECH HIGH, 29-8THE TEAM COMPLETELY OUT-
CLASSED THE ST. CLOUD
MEN

Brainerd gave St. Cloud Tech its worst trimming since 1927 by defeating them 29 to 8. Brainerd out-fought and out-played St. Cloud the entire game.

At the beginning of the game, Brainerd had a terrible time getting range of the basket, as they were not used to playing on that type of floor. If Brainerd had made 25 per cent of the tries at the net that hit the ring and rolled off, the score would have reached close to 50. However, St. Cloud was off form on its passing defense and teamwork.

From all appearances, it looked like a nip and tuck game from the start to the first half. Tech took a 4 to 0 lead at the outset but Franky came back and sunk two baskets in rapid succession as the first quarter ended. Brainerd was leading at the half by 9 to 7.

Something terrible happened in the second half, for St. Cloud made only one free throw while Brainerd piled up 20 points.

Franky Wise was a continual threat to the Tech guards being very near impossible to cover. Welliver was the outstanding man as floor guard and proved his great ability on a large floor. Capt. Guin did some very effective work and teamed with Wise. LaCourse, sub, looked very good in the final quarter.

The teamwork of Brainerd from all outside reports was above that of the average of the school team and the passing was very accurate.

Erickson, Mark Doane and Malcolm Doane were the best for the Tech in scoring and teamwork, but the defense of the locals smothered them. The major weakness of the Tech seemed to be in the lack of ability to find an open spot in the floor. However, when 75 per cent of the shots for Brainerd were made in short range, it shows that something was wrong with the Tech defense.

The line-up:
Brainerd—field goals: Wise, 3; Guin, 3; Welliver, 4; Fuller, 1; Hautala, 0; LaCourse, 3; Swanson, 0. Free throws: Guin, 1 out of 2; Fuller, 0 out of 1.
Tech—field goals: Erickson, 1; Graves, 1; Daubanton, 0; Hallstrom, 0; Torry, 0. Free throws: Graves, 1 out of 2; Daubanton, 2 out of 3; Hallstrom, 1 out of 2; Torry, 0 out of 1.

Who, What and Where

All students and teachers are back to begin working again after having spent a delightful two weeks, skiing, sliding, skating and sleeping.

We notice many new ties, handkerchiefs, flowers, and dresses around school. These indicate that some people are starting the school year right by wearing what they got for Christmas.

Monday morning the assembly clock was about ten minutes late. That surely is not starting the new year right for it sets a poor example for the students.

This week there are no girls' class basketball practices. Only the girls in the squad are able to practice. Next week the regular class practices will be resumed.

The English IV classes have received another contract which must be finished before this six weeks is up. This is the second English contract this six weeks.

Harold Fox, 1924, after spending two years at Dunwoodie, is an instructor in the Electrical Division at that school.

LITERARY

Christmas vacation has come and gone.
And school days have returned.
In two or three weeks we pupils will know
How many credits we've earned.

We've started now the year '28.
The last chance, in Brainerd High.
The Seniors have of showing
Whether they'll do or die.

Let us show them, Seniors,
That we're brighter than they think;
That we'll hold our heads above water
As we have to swim or sink.

The song for this week is "Roll 'Em, Girls, Roll 'Em," meaning, of course, snow balls. Another one could be, "Behind the Clouds the Sun is Ever Shining." A poem, a little behind the times, is "Christmas in the Olden Times," by Scott.

Get Those Blue and White
Skull Caps Now!—WEAJ

Ark-ark-br-r—this is station WEAJ speaking. We'll open our program this evening with several announcements by the cheer-leader. Hello! folks, say you know I'm surely proud of our basketball team this season. They really have done wonderfully well and I think they are going to do even better.

The Rooter club will hold a meeting in the Gym at three-thirty. Everybody be there please.
Anyone in the school may buy a skull cap for thirty-five cents. I have thirty-four left. I must get rid of them this week.

We expect a big crowd at the battle in the Gym with C-I. Friday night. Will the members of the Rooter club be there with their caps and all ready to yell?

Several new yells will be in my possession early next week and we shall practice them.

Watch for announcements of the Rooter club on the bulletin board.

Alumni Wins From
B. H. S. First Team 37-20

The Alumni team proved their superiority in clever shooting and experience on the court by defeating the local team to the tune of 37 to 20.

Both teams fought on even terms until the third quarter when the Alumni began to creep ahead and continued to do so until the end. However, early in the 4th quarter Kasch put in a new team with a different style of playing but the Alumni soon coped with it and continued to march on to victory.

Whitlock was the high scorer for the Alumni, having five field goals and four free throws to his credit. Marshall followed close with four field goals. Engbretson, although a star of the Augsburg quint, was watched so closely that he made only three field goals and these were from near the center of the floor. DeRocher made two field goals also.

The scoring was distributed evenly between LaCourse, Guin and Hautala for Brainerd. It proved rather hard for the boys to penetrate the defense set up by the Alumni but they did it once in a while.

The following men played for the Alumni: Engbretson, Whitlock, Marshall, Lowe and DeRocher.
Brainerd: Swanson, Wise, Guin, Welliver and Fuller.

Subs: LaCourse, A. Hautala, Purdy, Barnes, Gabiou.
Peterson refereed.

Male E.: A penny for your thoughts.
Carl Z.: Just my luck I wasn't thinking.

Have you heard Dorothy Thabes is going to teach dancing? She hadn't ought to. It's a shaky business.

Muff D.: Have you heard the latest one about the Scotchman and his oatmeal?
Joe G.: I don't like cereal stories.

Does it cost much to have your ancestors looked up?
I'll say it does. First I paid a fellow to trace my lineage and now I'm paying him hush money.

Director: Hold it.
Actor: I'm sorry but the pie is cast.

CLASS PLAY AND
CAST IS SELECTEDTHE PLAY IS THE 'BOOMERANG';
REHEARSALS TO START IN
A FEW DAYS

Yes, the class play has been chosen. The Friday before Christmas vacation, Miss Tornstrom announced in the assembly that the following people were selected for the class play; but you must keep watching for the "selected cast," because the list of lucky ones cannot be submitted yet.

The first act was read Friday night, and apparently, "the cast" will do. Eleven hearts were made happy by this selection and probably a few more will be by the skillful arrangements of extra parts and lines. Watch for future notices, and don't forget "The Boomerang." Just a little bit more — two fair-haired people lead in the plot.

S. P. C. TRAINS FOR
DECLAMATION CONTEST

The Semper Paratus club has received a copy of the best declamations for our contest which will be held sometime in February. All who wish to compete in this contest are asked to come down to Miss Taylor's room at 3:30 in the afternoon. We believe that the pieces are numerous enough and the field large enough to hold a number of competitors and we hope that as many as possible will sign for one of the readings on the list below:

A—Humorous, for both Boys and Girls

1. At the Matinee.
2. Mrs. McGlafferty on Roller Skates.
3. Judy O'Shea Sees Hamlet.
4. Naughty Zell.
5. An Afternoon at the Chau-tauqua.
6. The P. A. I. L. W. R.
7. Willie's First Contest.
8. Over The Bannisters.
9. The Abandoned Elopement.
10. Blackstone (Pieces that will take prizes).

B—Dramatic, for Girls

1. Inja.
2. The Music Master.
3. Within the Law.
4. Cherry Blossoms.
5. Blackstone (Pieces that will take prizes).

C—Orations, for Boys

1. Modern American Prose Selections.
2. Best American Orations of Today.
3. Selections from the World's Great Orations.
4. Blackstone (Pieces that will take prizes).
5. America's Perfect Knight—Charles Lindbergh.

Recipe for Doughnuts

The doughnut is a very useful as well as an ornamental article. The following is a tried and true recipe which is very useful for amateurs, cooks, etc.

First, select as many round holes as there are doughnuts to be made. As the hole is the most important part, care should be taken in the choice. After satisfactory holes have been selected, the dough is neatly fitted around them. This gives them a circular effect, which, besides being dramatic is very convenient as one does not have to decide which side to bite first.

After the holes have been surrounded they are dropped into hot hard and scorched. If the brown complexion is not desired one may cover it with powder.

Next, the holes must be removed. This process is very difficult and trying as one must be careful not to damage them. They may, when successfully removed, be used again if kept in a cool place.

However, damaged holes should be destroyed by fire immediately after being removed from the doughnuts. What cook would risk her reputation by using damaged holes?

When making this delicious fruit the honeyed words of a long forgotten poet should be memorized and thoroughly mastered as it is not important.

Doughnuts may be served with either catsup or rice but they must be eaten while young.—Exchange.

FORM BARACA MEN'S GROUP

Men of First Baptist Church Conclude Plans for the Organization

WM. E. LEWIS, PRESIDENT

Purpose of Society is for Social Fellowship and Spiritual Helpfulness

Meeting at the home of Frank Gallupe last evening, the men of the First Baptist church concluded plans for their organization. The name of this organization is to be "Bar-aca." This was the name by which a similar organization of the men was known a few years ago. At that time they became widely known throughout the city for their activities.

Wm. E. Lewis was elected president, and George Cain secretary and treasurer. George Tracy was made chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mr. Whitlock chairman of the membership committee. The pastor, Rev. Harold F. Damon, was made ex officio a member of all committees.

The purpose of the organization is for social fellowship and spiritual helpfulness. To meet the first requirement there will be a regular monthly meeting for social purposes.
To meet the second there is a Bible class organized for the men in the Sunday school, meeting every Sunday morning at 9:45 with Henry Olson as the teacher. The next meeting of the organization will be January 22, at the home of George Cain.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

"SWEDISH NIGHTINGALES"

The Northland Trio "Swedish Nightingales" will appear at the Swedish Baptist church Saturday evening, January 14, at 8:30 o'clock.

The guest performers, Rose Peterson Burgeson, soprano; Mary Peterson, mezzo soprano; Signe Morten-son, contralto; and Paul Hultman,
"The Master Pianist" are all members of the Hultman conservatory music faculty, and set a high mark of excellence for the conservatory they represent.

The Northland Trio has gained an enviable reputation for itself not only in America but also in Sweden where they appeared in seventy concerts last year. They wear the colorful national Swedish costumes which lends a unique atmosphere to the concert program. The Chicago
Evening American said: "The

Northland Trio gave a recital, the first ever heard by this reviewer.
Emphatically, I hope it will not be the last. The trio is well worth the sacrifice of an afternoon abroad and the audience evidently shares my opinion. The blend of the three voices composes a tone of much clarity and purity of timbre, which they modulate with discretion and the judgment born of excellent musicianship. They sing in perfect tune and style to satisfy the most critical. In this type of artistic activity, they should have a long career."

It is almost needless to try and introduce Paul Hultman, pianist, as he is so well known; his program given in this city last year will serve as an introduction. He has that true, fine touch which pronounces him as artist of high degree.

JUDGE UPHOLDS P. J. LONG INDICTMENTS

Judge Bert Fesler Overrules Demur-rers to Two Indictments
Against Legislator

IS DISTRICT COURT CASE

Not Within Jurisdiction of Federal Courts; Long Must Enter Plea
Before January 16

That the two indictments returned against P. J. Long, state legislator, by the grand jury, charging him with receiving stolen money to the amount of $12,000 from Almon
H. Proctor, cashier of the First National bank of Ironton, and demurred to by Murphy and Cook, attorneys for Long, were within the sole jurisdiction of the district court and not a federal court matter was the decision handed down by Judge Bert Fesler in his original decision and received by the county attorney's and clerk of district court's offices, today.

The demurrers put in by the plaintiff's attorneys to two of the four indictments against Long were argued before Judge Fesler at Duluth last Friday. They were overruled by Judge Fesler.

The order further stipulates that Long must enter a plea to the charges preferred against him through grand jury investigation before January 16, the date set for his hearing.

The state's argument was presented by Chester Wilson, assistant attorney general and Walter F.
Wieland, county attorney.

FORM BARACA MEN'S GROUP

Men of First Baptist Church Conclude Plans for the Organization

WM. E. LEWIS, PRESIDENT

Purpose of Society is for Social Fellowship and Spiritual Helpfulness

Meeting at the home of Frank Gallupe last evening, the men of the First Baptist church concluded plans for their organization. The name of this organization is to be "Baraca." This was the name by which a similar organization of the men was known a few years ago. At that time they became widely known throughout the city for their activities.

Wm. E. Lewis was elected president, and George Cain secretary and treasurer. George Tracy was made chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mr. Whitlock chairman of the membership committee. The pastor, Rev. Harold F. Damon, was made ex officio a member of all committees.

The purpose of the organization is for social fellowship and spiritual helpfulness. To meet the first requirement there will be a regular monthly meeting for social purposes. To meet the second there is a Bible class organized for the men in the Sunday school, meeting every Sunday morning at 9:45 with Henry Olson as the teacher. The next meeting of the organization will be January 22, at the home of George Cain.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

"SWEDISH NIGHTINGALES"

The Northland Trio "Swedish Nightingales" will appear at the Swedish Baptist church Saturday evening, January 14, at 8:30 o'clock.

The guest performers, Rose Peterson Burgeson, soprano; Mary Peterson, mezzo soprano; Signe Mortenson, contralto; and Paul Hultman, "The Master Pianist" are all members of the Hultman conservatory music faculty, and set a high mark of excellence for the conservatory they represent.

The Northland Trio has gained an enviable reputation for itself not only in America but also in Sweden where they appeared in seventy concerts last year. They wear the colorful national Swedish costumes which lends a unique atmosphere to the concert program. The Chicago Evening American said: "The Northland Trio gave a recital, the first ever heard by this reviewer. Emphatically, I hope it will not be the last. The trio is well worth the sacrifice of an afternoon abroad and the audience evidently shares my opinion. The blend of the three voices composes a tone of much clarity and purity of timbre, which they modulate with discretion and the judgment born of excellent musicianship. They sing in perfect tune and style to satisfy the most critical. In this type of artistic activity, they should have a long career."

It is almost needless to try and introduce Paul Hultman, pianist, as he is so well known; his program given in this city last year will serve as an introduction. He has that true, fine touch which pronounces him as artist of high degree.

JUDGE UPHOLDS P. J. LONG INDICTMENTS

Judge Bert Fesler Overrules Demurrers to Two Indictments Against Legislator

IS DISTRICT COURT CASE

Not Within Jurisdiction of Federal Courts; Long Must Enter Plea Before January 16

That the two indictments returned against P. J. Long, state legislator, by the grand jury, charging him with receiving stolen money to the amount of $12,000 from Almon H. Proctor, cashier of the First National bank of Ironton, and demurred to by Murphy and Cook, attorneys for Long, were within the sole jurisdiction of the district court and not a federal court matter was the decision handed down by Judge Bert Fesler in his original decision and received by the county attorney's and clerk of district court's offices, today.

The demurrers put in by the plaintiff's attorneys to two of the four indictments against Long were argued before Judge Fesler at Duluth last Friday. They were overruled by Judge Fesler.

The order further stipulates that Long must enter a plea to the charges preferred against him through grand jury investigation before January 16, the date set for his hearing.

The state's argument was presented by Chester Wilson, assistant attorney general and Walter F. Wieland, county attorney.

Y. CAGERS PREPARING FOR AITKIN GAME

BRAINERD Y. M. C. A. IS PITTED TO MEET COMPANY B. SQUAD

WILL PLAY IN THE AITKIN ARMORY THURSDAY AT 8:15 P. M.

TEN MEN TO REPRESENT THE LOCALS; PRACTICE TONIGHT ON "Y" FLOOR

The Brainerd Y. M. C. A. team will journey to Aitkin Thursday night, January 12, where they will meet the fast Company B team of that town. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock, immediately following the preliminary.

The Company B team has been organized for several years, making a very impressive showing, especially on their armory floor. Brainerd has sent teams there every year and every one of them have come home defeated.

The "Y" team is staging its last practice before the game at the "Y" tonight and it expects to give Aitkin a fast, hard tussle. Ten men will make the trip, including Nutting, Beck, Fitzharris, Fitzsimmons, Hess, Orth, Anderson, Laftala, Lawrenz and Wallin.

Following the Aitkin game will be one with Minneapolis Central Y. M. C. A., which will take place at the local high school gym, Monday, January 16, the preliminary starting at 7:15 o'clock. Tickets for the game are now on sale.

JAKE SCHAEFER IN SLIGHT LEAD OVER WELKER COCHRAN

New York, Jan. 10.—(U.P.)—Young Jake Schaefer held a slight lead over Welker Cochran when play was started today in the third block of their 3,600-point 18.1 ballkline billiard match.

The score at the start of the third block was: Schaefer 600, Cochran 508. After assuming a commanding lead in the first block, Schaefer slumped in the second block last night and almost lost his lead to Cochran. It took Schaefer 14 innings to complete the 600 points for the first two blocks, and in four of these innings he went scoreless.

Although the match is billed for the world's supremacy, the winner will not be officially recognized as world's champion.

Plans are under way to hold an 18.1 ballkline billiard tournament at the completion of the match with the winner to be crowned world's champion. Willie Hoppe, Eric Hagenlacher, Edouard Horemans, Cochran and Schaefer probably will enter the tournament.

MEETING OF RETAIL MERCHANTS IN TWIN CITIES FEB. 6 TO 11

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.—For the fourth semi-annual convention of the National Merchants Association in Minneapolis and St. Paul, February 6 to 11, retail merchants from nine northwest states and from several points in Manitoba will have the advantage of reduced rates of one and one-half fare for the round trip.

The convention, which is for merchants of every retail classification, will be held simultaneously with the twelfth semi-annual Twin City Market Week observed jointly in the Twin Cities on the same dates.

In announcing the reduced rates, Secretary John H. DeWild of the Association's Twin Cities office said that the program now being arranged by the joint committee of the National Merchants Association, Saint Paul Association, and the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association will be "practical throughout," with round table discussions directed by expert merchandisers familiar with northwest retailing. It will include demonstrations of store arrangement, window displays and show cardwriting, and textile clinics.

The territory in which the reduced rates apply embraces Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, Upper Michigan, Julesburg, Colo., and certain Manitoba points.

An elaborate entertainment program will be provided for the retailer-guests by Twin Cities wholesalers and manufacturers. A record-breaking attendance is anticipated.

LATE SEASON HITTING STREAK AIDED HEILMAN

DETROIT OUTFIELDER BOOSTED HIS AVERAGE TO .398 IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

OFFICIAL AVERAGES OF THE LEAGUE ARE RELEASED TODAY

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(U.P.)—A late-season hitting streak enabled Harry Heilman, Detroit outfielder, to boost his average to .398 and lead the American league in batting, according to the official averages released today.

Heilman connected safely 201 times out of 505 attempts. He led Al Simmons, Philadelphia outfielder, by six points. Simmons had 159 hits out of 406 times at bat. An injury kept him out of the game during the latter third of the year.

Ty Cobb was fifth with an average of .357.

Heinie Manush, 1926 leader, dropped to .299.

Leading batters were Gehrig, New York, .373; Fothergill, Detroit, .359; Combs, New York, .356; Ruth, New York, .356; Cochran, Philadelphia, .338; Meusel, New York, .337; and Goslin, Washington, .334.

Babe Ruth not only established a new home-run record of 60 but also led the league in runs scored with 158. Gehrig hit for the greatest number of bases, 447. Earl Combs led in number of hits with 231, thirty more than Heilman, his nearest competitor.

George Sisler, whose name once was a fixture at the top of the American league list, led in stolen bases with 27. Bob Meusel of the Yankees was second with 24.

In team batting the Yankees stood well out in front with .347. The Athletics had a mark of .303 and Detroit was third with .289. The Yankee pennant winners scored 975 runs as compared with 599 opponent scores.

There was no comparison in home-run team honors. The Yankees garnered 158 circuit clouts, Philadelphia was second with 56.

George Burns, Cleveland, though he hit 51 two base hits, lost honors to Lou Gehrig, who had 52. Heilman was a close third with 50. Combs of New York got 23 triples, Gehrig was second with 18.

MILLER HUGGINS' SLUGGERS FIELDED .969 FOR YEAR

THUS IT WAS HITTING AND NOT FIELDING THAT WON FOR THE YANKEES

IN DOUBLE PLAYS, NEW YORK LAST LAST ON RECORDS WITH 123

By BERT M. DENBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 10.—The real worth of the hitting power of the New York Yankees was seen in the official American League fielding averages released today.

Miller Huggins' sluggers fielded .969 for the year, which entitled them only to a tie for third place.

They were behind the Chicago White Sox, league leaders, with a mark of .971 and the Philadelphia Athletics, .970. Their .969 was tied by Washington.

The Yankees did not have a single player who led in fielding his position. The nearest they came was at third base. Wera performed perfectly there but he played in only 19 games and hence was not entitled to a rating.

In double plays, New York was last with 123. Detroit finished first with 173, fifty more than the pennant winners. The Yankees did not turn in a triple play during the season, although the last place Boston club was able to turn the trick twice. The Yankees made 195 errors out of 6,168 chances. The leading White Sox muffed 178 out of 5,990 chances.

Thus it may be seen that hitting and not fielding won for the Yanks.

It is interesting to note that fast fielding seemed to have little to do with the way the teams finished. Witness the 167 double plays turned in by Boston as compared with the 123 by the Yankees.

In individual work, Judge of Washington led the first basemen with an average of .996. Gehrig, New York, was second with .992.

Other individual leaders were: Second base, Phosessa, Cleveland, .973; Harris, Washington, .972; third base, Kamm, Chicago, .972; Bluege, Washington, .961; shortstop, Sewell, Cleveland, .962; Boley, Philadelphia, .951; outfield, Flagstead, Boston, .956; Simmons, Philadelphia, .955; Falk, Chicago, .978.

Muddy Ruel, Washington, led the catchers with a mark of .988. Cochran, Philadelphia, was second with .986. Schalk of Chicago had a perfect average in 15 games.

Sixteen pitchers had perfect fielding averages.

The .972 average of Kamm of Chicago was remarkable for a third baseman.

Bluege of Washington, one of the best fielding third basemen, averaged .961.

REVERSE RECENT BELLIGERENT ATTITUDE SHOWN

Chicago, Jan. 10.—(U.P.)—Reversing their recent belligerent attitude, minor league baseball magnates have ended their legislative troubles with the major leagues—so long as Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis remains at the head of the game.

Meeting here yesterday, the minor owners voted to continue the major-minor agreement as long as Landis is commissioner of baseball.

Their vote was a distinct about face from the recent demand for a break with the majors. The trouble centered around the modified form of draft enjoyed by five of the larger minors.

The owners in leagues which submitted unconditionally to the draft said they did not get a square deal in the distribution of excess playing material from the majors.

The majors, it was charged, sent too many players to the higher leagues, because the players could learn more in the better classification. At a Dallas meeting recently the minors voted to stop the majors from carrying on traffic with the American association, and the International, Pacific Coast, Western and Three Eye leagues.

Had the majors complied with this, much good playing talent would have gone to the unconditional draft minors instead of to the leagues named.

But at a New York meeting of the majors, the minors were told the majors would trade with whom they pleased.

Monday's resolution restored harmony.

SPORTS CLUB SETS MEMBERSHIP GOAL AT PEP MEETING

H. J. CARLSON WAS PLACED IN CHARGE TO BOOST ENROLLMENT TO 750

HOCKEY CHALLENGE ACCEPTED; SLEIGHRIDE, SKI EVENTS PROMISED

Five hundred seniors and 250 juniors is the objective of the Brainerd Outdoor Sports club as set last night at a pep meeting of the members in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The present membership is 205 adults and 50 juniors. H. J. Carlson was named chairman of the membership committee on a special drive to be started immediately.

No membership—no rink—this was the proposition put up to the members. Without membership, it was explained, there was no means to carry the expenses of the rink since the rink was maintained by the membership fees. It was requested that all members present their tickets at the rink when using the privileges of the same.

A hockey challenge was issued by the South East representatives last night to any club in the city. It was immediately taken up by the South Side representatives. A date for the game will be announced later. Northeast also announced that they were prepared to meet all comers in the hockey field.

Plans for a mammoth carnival to be held next month were left in the hands of the carnival committee to present a report at the next meeting to be held within the next two weeks.

Miss Eula Michael reported that the proposed sleighride a short while ago and called off on account of the severe weather, had not been completely abandoned and that in all likelihood the committee would announce a sleighride party in the near future.

Committees on toboggan and ski events were instructed to start plans for these events.

Y. CAGERS PREPARING FOR AITKIN GAME

BRAINERD Y. M. C. A. IS PITTED TO MEET COMPANY B. SQUAD

WILL PLAY IN THE AITKIN ARMORY THURSDAY AT 8:15 P. M.

TEN MEN TO REPRESENT THE LOCALS; PRACTICE TONIGHT ON "Y" FLOOR

The Brainerd Y. M. C. A. team will journey to Aitkin Thursday night, January 12, where they will meet the fast Company B team of that town. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock, immediately following the preliminary.

The Company B team has been organized for several years, making a very impressive showing, especially on their armory floor. Brainerd has sent teams there every year and every one of them have come home defeated.

The "Y" team is staging its last practice before the game at the "Y" tonight and it expects to give Aitkin a fast, hard tussle. Ten men will make the trip, including Nutting, Beck, Fitzharris, Fitzsimmons, Hess, Orth, Anderson, Lalitala, Lawrence and Wallin.

Following the Aitkin game will be one with Minneapolis Central Y. M. C. A., which will take place at the local high school gym, Monday, January 16, the preliminary starting at 7:15 o'clock. Tickets for the game are now on sale.

JAKE SCHAEFER IN SLIGHT LEAD OVER WELKER COCHRAN

New York, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Young Jake Schaefer held a slight lead over Welker Cochran when play was started today in the third block of their 3,600-point 18.1 ballline billiard match.

The score at the start of the third block was: Schaefer 600, Cochran 508. After assuming a commanding lead in the first block, Schaefer slumped in the second block last night and almost lost his lead to Cochran. It took Schaefer 14 innings to complete the 600 points for the first two blocks, and in four of these innings he went scoreless.

Although the match is billed for the world's supremacy, the winner will not be officially recognized as world's champion.

Plans are under way to hold an 18.1 ballline billiard tournament at the completion of the match with the winner to be crowned world's champion. Willie Hoppe, Eric Hagenlacher, Edouard Horemans, Cochran and Schaefer probably will enter the tournament.

MEETING OF RETAIL MERCHANTS IN TWIN CITIES FEB. 6 TO 11

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.—For the fourth semi-annual convention of the National Merchants Association in Minneapolis and St. Paul, February 6 to 11, retail merchants from nine northwest states and from several points in Manitoba will have the advantage of reduced rates of one and one-half fare for the round trip.

The convention, which is for merchants of every retail classification, will be held simultaneously with the twelfth semi-annual Twin City Market Week observed jointly in the Twin Cities on the same dates.

In announcing the reduced rates, Secretary John H. DeWild of the Association's Twin Cities office said that the program now being arranged by the joint committee of the National Merchants Association, Saint Paul Association, and the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association will be "practical throughout," with round table discussions directed by expert merchandisers familiar with northwest retailing. It will include demonstrations of store arrangement, window displays and show cardwriting, and textile clinics.

The territory in which the reduced rates apply embraces Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, Upper Michigan, Julesburg, Colo., and certain Manitoba points.

An elaborate entertainment program will be provided the retailers, guests by Twin Cities wholesalers and manufacturers. A record-breaking attendance is anticipated.

LATE SEASON HITTING STREAK AIDED HEILMAN

DETROIT OUTFIELDER BOOSTED HIS AVERAGE TO .398 IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

OFFICIAL AVERAGES OF THE LEAGUE ARE RELEASED TODAY

By BERT M. DEMBY
Chicago, Jan. 9.—(UP)—A late-season hitting streak enabled Harry Heilman, Detroit outfielder, to boost his average to .398 and lead the American league in batting, according to the official averages released today.

Heilman connected safely 201 times out of 505 attempts. He led Al Simmons, Philadelphia outfielder, by six points. Simmons had 159 hits out of 406 times at bat. An injury kept him out of the game during the latter third of the year.

Ty Cobb was fifth with an average of .357. Heinie Manush, 1926 leader, dropped to .299.

Leading batters were Gehrig, New York, .373; Fothergill, Detroit, .359; Combs, New York, .356; Ruth, New York, .356; Cochran, Philadelphia, .338; Meusel, New York, .337; and Goslin, Washington, .334.

Babe Ruth not only established a new home-run record of 60 but also led the league in runs scored with 158. Gehrig hit for the greatest number of bases, 447. Earl Combs led in number of hits with 231, thirty more than Heilman, his nearest competitor.

George Sisler, whose name once was a fixture at the top of the American league list, led in stolen bases with 27. Bob Meusel of the Yankees was second with 24.

In team batting the Yankees stood well out in front with .307. The Athletics had a mark of .303 and Detroit was third with .289. The Yankee pennant winners scored 975 runs as compared with 599 opponent scores.

There was no comparison in home-run team honors. The Yankees garnered 158 circuit clouts, Philadelphia was second with 56.

George Burns, Cleveland, though he hit 51 two base hits, lost honors to Lou Gehrig, who had 52. Heilman was a close third with 50. Combs of New York got 23 triples, Gehrig was second with 18.

MILLER HUGGINS' SLUGGERS FIELDED .969 FOR YEAR

THUS IT WAS HITTING AND NOT FIELDING THAT WON FOR THE YANKEES

IN DOUBLE PLAYS, NEW YORK LAST LAST ON RECORDS WITH 123

By BERT M. DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 10.—The real worth of the hitting power of the New York Yankees was seen in the official American League fielding averages released today.

Miller Huggins' sluggers fielded .969 for the year, which entitled them only to a tie for third place. They were behind the Chicago White Sox, league leaders, with a mark of .971 and the Philadelphia Athletics, .970. Their .969 was tied by Washington.

The Yankees did not have a single player who led in fielding his position. The nearest they came was at third base. Wera performed perfectly there but he played in only 19 games and hence was not entitled to a rating.

In double plays, New York was last with 123. Detroit finished first with 173, fifty more than the pennant winners. The Yankees did not turn in a triple play during the season, although the last place Boston club was able to turn the trick twice. The Yankees made 195 errors out of 6,168 chances. The leading White Sox muffed 178 out of 5,990 chances.

Thus it may be seen that hitting and not fielding won for the Yanks. It is interesting to note that fast fielding seemed to have little to do with the way the teams finished. Witness the 167 double plays turned in by Boston as compared with the 123 by the Yankees.

In individual work, Judge of Washington led the first basemen with an average of .996. Gehrig, New York, was second with .992.

Other individual leaders were: Second base, Foosega, Cleveland, .973; Harris, Washington, .972; third base, Kamm, Chicago, .972; Bluege, Washington, .961; shortstop, Sewell, Cleveland, .962; Boley, Philadelphia, .951; outfield, Flagstead, Boston, .946; Simmons, Philadelphia, .945; Falk, Chicago, .978.

Muddy Ruel, Washington, led the catchers with a mark of .988. Cochran, Philadelphia, was second with .986. Schalk of Chicago had a perfect average in 15 games. Sixteen pitchers had perfect fielding averages.

The .972 average of Kamm of Chicago was remarkable for a third baseman.

Bluege of Washington, one of the best fielding third basemen, averaged .961.

REVERSE RECENT BELLIGERENT ATTITUDE SHOWN

Chicago, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Reversing their recent belligerent attitude, minor league baseball magnates have ended their legislative troubles with the major leagues—so long as Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis remains at the head of the game.

Meeting here yesterday, the minor owners voted to continue the major-minor agreement as long as Landis is commissioner of baseball.

Their vote was a distinct about face from the recent demand for a break with the majors. The trouble centered around the modified form of draft enjoyed by five of the larger minors.

The owners in leagues which submitted unconditionally to the draft said they did not get a square deal in the distribution of excess playing material from the majors.

The majors, it was charged, sent too many players to the higher leagues, because the players could learn more in the better classification.

At a Dallas meeting recently the minors voted to stop the majors from carrying on traffic with the American association, and the International, Pacific Coast, Western and Three Eye leagues.

Had the majors complied with this, much good playing talent would have gone to the unconditional draft minors instead of to the leagues named.

But at a New York meeting of the majors, the minors were told the majors would trade with whom they pleased.

Monday's resolution restored harmony.

SPORTS CLUB SETS MEMBERSHIP GOAL AT PEP MEETING

H. J. CARLSON WAS PLACED IN CHARGE TO BOOST ENROLLMENT TO 750

HOCKEY CHALLENGE ACCEPTED; SLEIGHRIDE, SKI EVENTS PROMISED

Five hundred seniors and 250 juniors is the objective of the Brainerd Outdoor Sports club as set last night at a pep meeting of the members in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The present membership is 205 adults and 50 juniors. H. J. Carlson was named chairman of the membership committee on a special drive to be started immediately.

No membership—no rink—this was the proposition put up to the members. Without membership, it was explained, there was no means to carry the expenses of the rink since the rink was maintained by the membership fees. It was requested that all members present their tickets at the rink when using the privileges of the same.

A hockey challenge was issued by the South East representatives last night to any club in the city. It was immediately taken up by the South Side representatives. A date for the game will be announced later. Northeast also announced that they were prepared to meet all comers in the hockey field.

Plans for a mammoth carnival to be held next month were left in the hands of the carnival committee to present a report at the next meeting to be held within the next two weeks.

Miss Eula Michael reported that the proposed sleighride a short while ago and called off on account of the severe weather, had not been completely abandoned and that in all likelihood the committee would announce a sleighride party in the near future.

Committees on toboggan and ski events were instructed to start plans for these events.
